

Cheah Sin Liang

Lead Coordinator for Climate Negotiations

Deputy Director, International Policy

National Climate Change Secretariat

Prime Minister's Office, Singapore

Mr. Cheah Sin Liang is responsible for leading and coordinating the Singapore government agencies' efforts at international climate change fora, including the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). He leads the International Policy team in the National Climate Change Secretariat (NCCS), which comes under the Strategy Group, Prime Minister's Office. He is the Chairman of an international expert group under the UNFCCC tasked with assisting developing countries to enhance their reporting of climate actions. He is currently serving as a co-facilitator for the on-going negotiations on implementation guidelines and procedures for the Paris Agreement.

Mr. Cheah's career in the civil service spans over 20 years, handling international relations, policy and negotiations roles in various government ministries and statutory boards.